BREAKING NEW GROUND

University of Maryland
School of Pharmacy
2010 - 2011

A message from the Dean

Dear students,

I think it is safe to say that the 2010-2011 academic year was one of the most exciting in the School of Pharmacy's history because of the opening of Pharmacy Hall Addition. After more than 15 years of advocacy from our faculty, staff, students, alumni, and friends, a financial commitment from the state of Maryland, and little less than two years of construction, our new home is ready.

It's ready for students like you to study within its walls, learning the important traditions of the pharmacy profession and embracing new roles – ones that place you on the front lines of collaborative health care.

During construction, you ably endured disruption and displacement. I hope that you all agree with me that the disturbance was completely worth it. I walk into our light filled Atrium every morning and see tangible signs of how it has already impacted your educational experience. The building provides a wonderful setting for all of us to connect as a School community.

That community includes our nearly 4,500 alumni, a group the fourth-year students join with their graduation in May 2011. As alumni, you now represent the School of Pharmacy in your professional endeavors. Your interactions with patients, customers, and colleagues reflect upon our School, and I'm confident that you will represent us well.

As you relive the past year depicted on the pages of Terra Maria, I hope it fills you with pride at all you, our students, have accomplished. From countless community service projects and rotations, to studying for exams and social events, you should be proud at what a productive year it has been at the School. Keep up that enthusiasm and commitment wherever the next year takes you.

Best wishes,

Dean Natalie D. Eddington, PhD '89, FAAPS

Pharmacy Hall Grand Opening

October 5, 2010 marks the culmination of more than 15 years of advocacy, 22 months of construction, and $62 million in funding.

The result is our brand new 112,565 square-foot, seven-story building dedicated to training future pharmacists, fostering pharmaceutical research, and giving back to the community.

The theme of this yearbook, Breaking New Ground, celebrates the Grand Opening of the Pharmacy Hall Addition and complements the new School of Pharmacy themes:

Expertise. Influence. Impact.

We had a great turn out at the residency forum this year, where students learned all about residencies and the application process.

ASHP

ASHP represents pharmacists who practice in settings such as hospitals, health maintenance organizations, long-term care facilities, home care, and other components of health care systems.

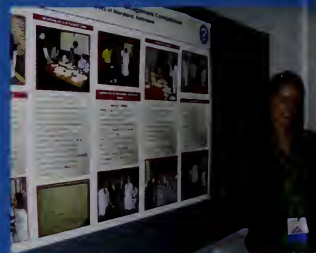

Students from five of UMB's professional schools teamed up to effectively manage the patient case presented at this year's IPMC.

Teamwork is key in the clinical skills competition!

Advocacy

Pharmacists and student pharmacists advocated for the profession at the 11th Annual Pharmacy Legislative Day

Each year, pharmacists and student pharmacists from the University of Maryland travel to Annapolis for the Annual Pharmacy Legislative Day. This year, with three other schools involved there were more than 400 students at the state's capitol. Students met with legislators from their assigned district to discuss hot topics in the pharmacy world. This year, discussion points included medical marijuana, drug take-back programs and pharmacist-based vaccinations. Student pharmacists from all four professional years participate in Pharmacy Legislative Day. Third year student, Josephine Feng, has participated in Pharmacy Legislative Day for the past three years. "Legislative day is my favorite day of the year," said Feng. "I get to advocate for my profession, my school and network with Maryland Pharmacists. It is an opportunity that I never miss." As Phi Lambda Sigma Vice President, Feng also helped organize the day.

After a long day of advocating, first year students Eduardo Shen and Stephanie Zhang stand on the steps of the State House discussing their day's work.

State-wide Advocacy

Observing the Political Process

Being able to observe the political process is part of the schedule during Legislative Day. After students finish meeting with each of their legislators, they are invited to oversee the floor of the state house in order to view one of the political sessions.

Starting the Day off Right

Janet Lee and Josephine Feng fill up on donuts and water in the pharmacy school atrium before heading down to Annapolis. The Student Government Association sponsored breakfast and transportation for students participating in Legislative Day.

Multi-generation Advocacy

Dr. Cynthia Boyle discusses the issues of the day with Second Year Student, Andrew Phan.

MPC Leads the Way

MPC Chair, Chai Wang, a Fourth Year Pharmacy Student, briefs the students on the importance of Legislative Day.

Why do you advocate for the profession of pharmacy?

"It brings us together as pharmacists to move the profession forward."

Justine Beck, P3

"I advocate for the profession of pharmacy because as medication experts we can truly give a unique perspective in the care of our patients. With greater awareness of what pharmacists can do, we can both improve the health of the United States and decrease costs for all."

Deanna Tran, P4

"If we don't push ahead and become the leaders of our profession and an influence among those around us, we will get left behind; I advocate because I care."

Rumany Penn, P2

"Legislative day is essentially bringing an open house to the legislators. Showcasing our value brings long-term benefit to our patients and enables the public to justify our ability to practice our chosen profession."

Chai Wang, P4

The most beautiful discovery true friends make is that they can grow separately without growing apart.

Earn (Y)our Reputation Everyday!

Dear Student Pharmacists,

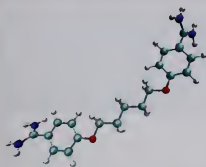

It is an honor to serve as a faculty member and Student Government Association advisor for you. Each class has distinctive qualities and together you are a dynamic force for change. You should be proud of the innovations, academic rigor, and variety of opportunities that are part of your educational experience. By earning your individual reputation, you contribute to our collective reputation as a school.

I am especially proud of the Class of 2011. You were part of the process and excitement to create our Shady Grove campus for the largest class ever. Thank you for your patience with faculty who learned new ways of teaching and communicating with two campuses. You helped us adapt and challenged our assumptions about pharmacy education. You have been successful in your advanced rotations and are prepared to take your place in our profession.

Albert Schweitzer is a quoted saying, "My life is my argument." What will be yours?

I cannot express my appreciation enough to everyone who contributed to the 2010-2011 Terra Mariae Yearbook. Thank you for your ideas, your input, your proofreading, and your willingness to put up with my constant emails. An especially big thank you to those of you who volunteered your time to help me sort through the chaos. This yearbook was an enormous undertaking that stole countless hours from studying, fun, and otherwise normal activities. I cannot imagine why you would deprive yourself of that to help with this project. But you did. And though I would not encourage you to do it again, I thank you.

Andrew Phan

To simply say "THANK YOU!" to everyone who helped with the 2010-2011 yearbook would be a huge understatement. This production has been overwhelming at times and I can't even begin to imagine how hard this experience would have been without the many hours spent behind the computer screen, encouragement and dedication of those who volunteered. Thank you to everyone who helped brainstorm new ideas, provided inspiration when creativity was at a low, and offered help with whatever we asked. I truly appreciate the willingness you have shown to help friends in need.
